

THERE IS NOTHING MORE BEAUTIFUL ...

than a crystal clear lake or surging ocean wave. As in nature, there exists in us the desire to find stillness and peace as well as a roaring burst of energy. Both of these desires find pure expression in watercolor. This energetic and calming medium brings us close to nature because the natural properties of water teach us the lessons of the natural world. Allowing the water to have some control in the creative process allows us to feel free from always having to be in control. With that freedom, wonderful things happen in our painting and in our lives. Join me in your exploration of freedom. Use sound watercolor techniques and design principles as a launching pad for discovering your painting passion!

INSTRUCTION Private and semi-private lessons, workshops and classes span from one hour to 4 full days. Julie also lectures and demonstrates to art organizations. Her students range from age 7 to infinity. To ensure a space, sign up for classes and workshops early.
